Wal you see, it's a queer story, Missy; The little gal's home of our sint. But, you her, when the old men pe min. She's the case who will handle som. My need as it may require more wife, We've get may kilden nor wife, But we love little pallets haired Neills. An 'we'll rese her up well—bet your life.

Here sid! Wat, she a triple sight I recken; They years since we brought her out here As she was the canning est halp.

As she was the canning est halp.

We'd looked at for mixty a year.

You see, Years the time the Amachas Broke out. Binst the real imps of sin, The emigrant stain consent their trail, mass an' the Injury they account their trail.

Yes, that key man, children an' wommin: The red derile raised all their ha'? We results do nothing to help lene. So my part an 'me beried em that. We found one likely lookin' young cresin Llym' out from the rest of the hear; She was dead, like the ran, an' Neith-Lay chose by her sine-fast askep.

Wel, 'twas nigh ninety mile in the settlems Bill an' me turned the thing in our min An' at last we essentiated to keep him. An' bring her up lovin' an kind. We buried her poor dad an' maning; Likewise all their mileticy mates. An' we maned her Neil, arest a sweatheast. My pard had once lack in the States.

But the trouble we had with that young an Was somethin quite framy to see:

What somethin quite framy to see:

Bill gave bet up for a mystery—

Likewise she was loo sanch for me.

Bet derived dud we couldn't get on right,

An' we crossed every button on' string!

But arres a pell we slid better,

When we once got the hang of the thing.

An' she's growed up quits pertilize un' bisse We take her to work crury day: While Bill an' me's hose's utinity. She'll sit by the rock pile an' play. An' she's made better men of ut both, Mirs: We dan't class hose, mor go on no spree. Tanes were workin, 'an' savin Ju Nellie. The pride of my onl pard an' me.

The Fenians appear to be preparing to attack Windsor Castle. The keys were recently stolen from all the most important locks, and a supply of over 800 new locks for the entire building was ordered, The strength of the Egyptian army will be 10,000 infantry, cavalry and artillery. The efficers and soldiers suspected of participating in the revolt will not be admitted. The officers, however, will all be Turks or Circassians.

A petrified human form was found Permaylvania the other day, one thousand feet under the ground. Sometimes it is found necessary to bury book agents as deep as that, but as a general thing seven hundred feet is The official investigation into the conduct a the Jeannette exploring expedition promises to disclose a great deal of unfriendly feeling, and jealousy among the officers. Jerone J. Collins, the Herald correspondent, is reported to have been shamefully treated by De Long. Canadian whisky recently got the better of Slade, the Spiritualist, and he gave a humer-one seeme in which he unwittingly exposed a good many of his own tricks—slate-writing and others. Some young men, it is said, plied him with this object in view.

A New York dispatch states that the veteran ditor Thurlow Weed is inevitably but slowly sinking to the grave, though momentarily here and there better. His great age is against him and the improvements do not last long. Private advices say the worst must be looked for in

The English writer, Captain Mayne Reid, has finally been placed on the pension list of the United States Government. He was an officer in the 1st New York Volunteers (Generalized) al Ward Burnett's regiment), and was wounded at Chapultepec. His case has been pending some time, and he has been obliged to wait, as

Malcolm Khan, the Persian Ambassador in London, recently went to Vienna on an extra-ordinary mission. In private audience he preconted to the Emperor a righty ornamen autograph letter from the Shab, informing Austrian monarch that another son had been bern to the Shah, to whom had been given the name Musred Eddin—"Supporter of the Faith." No city now in existence has met with reater vicissitude than Alexandria. At one ime, in the days of its greatest splendour, it contained 600,000 people. This population had dwindled down in the beginning of this century to 6,000, and they are about as wretched and impoverished a people as ever survived the rain of a great city. In 1825 the population had increased to 16,000, in 1840 to 60,000, in 1871 and in 1881 the number was esti

A "Green Ribbon" army, composed of all members of Roman Catholic temperance organ-isations throughout the United Kingdom is about to be formed, the distinguishing badge about to be formed, the distinguishing badge being a bit of green ribbon worn at the button-hole, just as the blue is displayed by members of the "Blue Ribbon" army. The "Green Ribbon" army, it is stated, is to be in no way, directly or indirectly associated with politics, its sole motto being, "Total abstinence from intoxicating drink."

A local link between the names of Sir Walte out and Robert Burns is about to be broken Only once in life did the two meet in person in the house of the historian Ferguson, ne the house of the historian Perguson, in Edinburgh. Until lately that hence remained the finest in its neighborhood. But now the garden has been built upon, the house itself subdivided into workingmen's spartments, and soon the structure will be entirely removed, the place rebuilt upon, and, perhaps, the fact of its historic interest be forgotten.

Whether or not ex-President Hayes "buildes otter than he knew," when he bought his big Dakota farm, it seems to be pretty well settle that he selected about the choicest piece of lan-in the Territory, both as regards the land itsel and its location. It lies in the northern portion—Burleigh County—six miles from Bismore on the line of the Northern Pacific Railron The soil is a dark loam, with some sand, gi ing it such warmth as to enable crops to b ed two weeks earlier than in other part of the Territory. Mr. Hayes had this year 520 acres in wheat, the yield of which is reported to be very antisfactory. The distribution of the population acc to dominant topographical features may be thus stated: On the immediate Atlantic coast, north, 2,616,892; middle, 4,875,184; sot 875,387; on the Gulf coast, 1,055,851; in hilly and mountanious region of the northess 1,680,226; in the mountainious region of the central Atlantic slope, 2,334,223; in the im-mediate region of the laskes, 5,010,470; on the ble-lands, and elevated plateaus of the in rier, 5,716,326; in the south central moun-inous region, 2,895,885; in the Ohio valley 2,442.793; in the south interior table-lands and plateaus, 3,027,478; in the Mississeppi belt, south, 710,268; north, 1,991,302; in the acuthwest central region, 2,932,807; in the central region, 4,461,246; in the prairie region, 5,722,-485; in the Missouri river bolt, 835,355; on the western plains, 328,819; in the heavily-timbered region of the northwest, 1,122,337; in the Cordilleran region, 532,511; on the Pacific coast, 715,680;

An exhibition of ancient and modern lac will be held at Brighton, England, during the very interesting. It is expected that the exhibits will be arranged in chronological order and classed under the various schools, as Italian, French, Flemish, Honiton, Buckingham and Limerick. The Ghangow Heroid, in speaking of the forthcoming exhibition, states that it is to Italy that lace making as well as most departments of modern art must look for the impetua early received. It was in Italy that impetus carly received. It was in Italy that the first books of lace patterns were compiled, and the raised point, in the flowing decoration style of the Remaissance, seen later in the Venetian point of the seventeenth contury, learnys its Italian origin and development in its very name. The later Venetian point has not been surpassed, only imitated in the point of Alescos, point of Argestan, and the modern point gaze made at Brassels. Planders pillow laces were never anything but cheap initiations of needlepoint lace. In its decline, lace dwindled into the filmsy Valenciannes and Mechalin, which readily lent themselves to the frills and puckerings of the modern dressmaker. The modern lace revival is said to have gone through very similar phases to those of the old manufacture, and it is believed that the Brighton artibilition will prove specially valuable as abstract that the ALL KINDS OF FURNITURE IN HENOLULI of lace making, and by this meens, perhaps, belp on the demand for lace itself.
